Neil Mackinnon is a leadership coach and consultant in the cultural and creative industries. An early career as a professional musician led to working independently as a tour manager and project based roles with Serious International Music Producers and the British Council. He subsequently spent twelve years at Southbank Centre, the UK's largest arts centre. Starting as an independent Event Producer, he went on to set up and run the touring and commissions department and ultimately served as Head of Artistic Rentals and Partnerships. He moved to award winning Classical Music agency Intermusica, as Head of Special Projects for one year fixed term contract, as a stepping stone going full time as a leadership coach and consultant.

Neil has guest lectured at Royal Central School of Speech and Drama and BIMM and produces and presents the podcast Creative Practice
