

Simone Niles

Simone Niles is an expert coach, sound healer, vocalist and author, who offers grounded and practical teachings, focused on empowering conscious, soul-driven creatives and entrepreneurs to generate meaning and alignment in their work and life.

She is the host of the SOULFULL SOUND Podcast, celebrating the leaders, teachers and coaches who guide fellow humans to connect, heal and discover themselves, so they can express their gifts into the world.

Simone's background in the music industry allows her the privilege of working with artists such as Eddy Grant, Third World, Tom Jones, Paloma Faith, to name a few, and to work with primetime TV show, The Voice UK. Her book Coaching For Performance Excellence offers performers some new and innovative ways of approaching their art.

Simone's gift in using sound has touched many, through her healing, teaching and performing for more than two decades.