

Omari Carter

Omari 'Motion' Carter is the founder of Motion Dance Collective, a screendance production company for which he directs, produces, choreographs, and performs. Hailing from London, England, he performed for 7 years in the West End and international tour of Stomp!. Following this, Omari graduated from the trailblazing MA in Screendance at London Contemporary Dance School in 2020, where he became an assistant lecturer in dance. In 2024, he will be moving on to become assistant professor at UW-Madison.

Omari's practice revolves predominantly around dances of Hip Hop Culture, Screendance and Body Percussion and he has created digital-dance content for Breakin' Convention Hip Hop Theatre Festival (UK), Google, Britain's Got Talent, Association of Dance from the African Diaspora and more. His passion for music has resulted in collaborations with London International Gospel Choir, MD Brunch, Vocal Shack, Lismorahaun Singers & Assemble Choir.
